Attachment 1: Information International Business & Languages 2017-2018

Literature

You will find the compulsory literature on the <https://www.studystore.nl/en> website. Choose the books from IBL year 1 period 3. For recommended literature and further details we refer to www.istenden.com. See quicklinks for the TER International Business & Languages. Obviously you are free to buy the books at any bookstore of your choice. To start in the best possible way your academic year at Stenden you should, at least, buy the books as mentioned above (start 5 February 2018):

If you have any doubts about your choice of foreign language, we would advise you not to buy any foreign language textbooks until you have had the information about the foreign languages in the Study Start Days. You should, however, order all the other books.

If you think you can be exempted from certain subjects, you obviously should wait to buy the books for these subjects.

Language of choice

IBL students follow an English programme and study two of the following other modern foreign languages (NOT their mother tongue): Dutch, French, German and/or Spanish. Students take the first modern foreign language in their first year, and the other in their second year. During the Study Start Days you will be provided with more detailed information about the language programmes. However, we recommend you to start considering your language choice before coming, because you need to choose the language you will take in the first year on the very first day of the Study Start Days.

Enrolment

Our International Office department (io@stenden.com) has informed you about your application and your student number. Please use this number in your emails.

If enrolment is not properly completed before 1 February, you will not be admitted to the study programme! As a consequence study facilities will be automatically blocked.

Study Start Days - introduction

You are expected at Stenden Emmen on Wednesday 31 January at 10:00. The invitation (including programme and further details) for the Study Start Days is enclosed. The costs are € 35.

Study Coach

During the first two years of study, you will receive intensive support from a study coach. You will meet your study coach and fellow students during the Study Start Days, during which time you will also meet everyone concerned with your study. In addition, you will also become familiar with the setup of your study programme. You will be informed on the exemption options for qualifying students. In the first period of the academic year, each student will hold an individual study start interview with his/her study coach. This is an opportunity for you to discuss your personal issues with your coach.
